Lions Celebrate Charter Night

Club has accomplished much in Initial Year

One hundred and twenty-five Vulcan Lions, their wives, friends and visiting Lions attended a banquet and dance Friday evening in the I.O.O.F. hall to observe the anniversary of the local Club's Charter Night. District Governor Marshall Murray of Kalispel, Mont. Deputy District Governor, Paul Moreland of Raymond; Organizer Will Holbein of Kalispel, George Davey of Raymond, first president of the Vulcan Club, members of the Lethbridge Club and several Nanton men interested in forming a club in their town were among the honoured guests. President Merv McIntyre welcomed the splendid turnout and acted as master of ceremonies for the evening. The festivities got under way with the Rev. Vivian Lord giving the invocation, and the singing of O Canada and America. The guests then partook of a delicious dinner served by the ladies of the Canadian Legion Auxiliary. The tables were attractively decorated with flags of Canada and the United States. Much merriment was created during dinner by the two Lion Tail Twisters, Lions Clay Snow and Boyd McKay, firing all members for real and imaginary—mostly imaginary—infractions of the Lion's laws. Immediately following dinner a fine program was presented which included sing-songs, two solos by Miss Lila Jean Clarkson accompanied by Mrs. Elvies, which were much appreciated; and a comic skit presented by Lion Albert Collier and "starring" Lions Fred Mensinger, C. J. Robinson and Clay Snow that created gales of laughter. The club is now considerably concerned with the aspiring "actors" receive urgent calls from Hollywood and desert their own fair town.

In his address, Governor Murray had some very complimentary things to say of the local Club and what it had accomplished in the one short year of its existence. He outlined the aims and objectives of Lionism and the splendid spirit of unity it fosters between our two great countries. It is organized solely for community betterment and in every district in which an active Lions Club existed many objectives have been achieved.

President Merv. addressed the assembled guests briefly after which the first part of the program was concluded with the singing of God Save the King. Dancing then commenced upstairs with many of the Lions and their friends enjoying a few hours of tripping the light fantastic.

More Machinery

Farm equipment manufacturers are now free to produce all the equipment they can process from the available supply of materials, and importers may bring into Canada any stocks of farm machinery they can obtain from U.S. suppliers. With rationing of equipment to farmers discontinued, the only board control remaining are the price ceilings on such machinery and the credit regulations which apply to the conditions of sale.

War-time restrictions on the Canadian production and importation of farm machinery have been removed but shortages of components such as malleable castings, and sheet metal will limit the output during the year July 1, 1945 to June 30, 1946 to a 24 per cent tonnage increase over the output in the preceding 12 months.

Calling All Hockey Fans

DESIRE TO RE-ORGANIZE
FOOTHILLS LEAGUE

Mr. J. T. North of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association has requested R.L. King of Claresholm to try and re-organize the old Foothills Hockey League, and Mr. King has called a meeting for this purpose in the Rec. hall at Claresholm on Wednesday, Nov. 14th at 8 p.m. Each club will be allowed a voting delegation of two. Notice of the meeting has been sent to Okotoks, High River, Nanton, Vulcan, Staveland, Claresholm and Macleod. If Vulcan hockey fans are interested, it is believed that a team could be formed here. Please contact the Advocate if interested.

Bond Buying As Investment

Len Nesbitt of Wheat Pool Finds Unusual Situation in Rural Lag in Bond Drive—Farms Must Have Export Outlet or Prices Collapse

Leonard Nesbitt, publicity superintendent of Alberta Wheat Pool spoke to farmers and salesmen at Olds on the necessity of supporting the Victory bond drive. His arguments are applicable to all rural areas.

He observed that rural districts were lagging in bond purchase and gave reasons why the current campaign is of greatest importance to farmers. Farms have increased production during war years round 40% and must have overseas outlet for the surplus.

"The war ravaged nations of Europe and Asia are impoverished, hungry and cold. They have no money or credit with which to purchase food. The money must be paid out by the Canadian government to Canadian farmers and then exported under long-term credit arrangements or made an outright gift through the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration.

"Without such a set-up being in existence, there would be an immediate collapse of farm prices throughout the whole Dominion of Canada, and a new depression would be in the making. These farmers who went through the depression which followed World War I know full well the misery and despair which develops from a general deflation of farm prices.

"Under the present federal plan it is proposed to provide $900,000,000 in cash for an export credit arrangement. This scheme will permit the exports of surplus farm products, thus preventing domestic glut and a general lowering of the farm price level. Alberta's share of that volume of money is estimated at anywhere between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000.

"Alberta people consume only about 8% of the wheat in the province, 15% of the hogs, and 30% of the cattle. The balance must find outside markets. Quite aside from the urge of patriotism, self interest would suggest that Albertans support this loan to the limit. Their living depends upon it.

"It is now quite evident that the war peak of farm prices is past. The experienced farmer realizes that war years are exceptional years, in which preparation must be made for less prosperous years. We do not want return to the conditions of 1933. This can be avoided through supporting the Victory Loan. Every dollar that Alberta farmers invest will be returned with more added.

"During war years of Alberta farmers have followed a sensible policy for the most part. Between 1938 and 1944 mortgage debts have been decreased round 50%. Current liabilities have been remarkably cleaned up, and most farmers have a reserve in Victory bonds.

"There has been comparatively little inflation and a minimum of speculation. If this economic wisdom prevails during the next year or so Alberta farmers will be able to face the future with the greatest confidence. Whatever economic storms may rage, the farmer with his land and equipment clear of debt and with a backlog of Canadian Victory bonds is relieved of worry and fairly secure in his living.

ALSTON

DETAILS OF DEATH OF
W/O CHARLES N. D. WRIGHT
Buried in Germany

The Allied Investigating Unit enquiring about the missing men reported last week on W/O Charles N. D. Wright, R.C.A.F. navigator, and son of Rev. and Mrs. John L. Wright, of the Vulcan United Church.

"Chuck" has been missing since going on an operational flight against Leipzig, Germany, on October 20th, 1943. He was attached to the R.A.F. It was his twenty-first "opp" over Germany. No other news had come since that time until last week.

It has now been established that his Lancaster bomber crashed in the country between Orrel and Langwedell. All seven bodies of the crew were buried in the village cemetery at Langwedell between Bremen and Hanover. He was 21 years of age and was studying for the Christian Ministry.

The plane crashed owing to severe icing conditions. It was reported at the time that seventeen Lancasters and one other plane crashed that night on the same raid.

ENSIGN

A Hallowe'en Party was held in the U.F.A. Hall by the Ensign ladies for both young and old. Prizes were given for the best, the funniest and the most appropriately dressed. A few games were played by the younger ones while the older folks talked and visited. At the close of the party a few of the ladies served a dainty lunch.

Girl Guides have been formed for the Ensign and Brant girls. Miss Tom, of Brant, is Guide Leader with Miss Patricia McFadden, of Ensign, and Miss Marion Irwin, of Brant, as assistants. At the time of writing there are 14 Girl Guides in the Troop.

Brownies are formed for the younger girls of the Ensign and Brant districts with Miss Hanna as leader. Miss Harrington is leader of the Cub Pack.

Mr. Jim Williams returned home from the coast where he attended the funeral of his brother-in-law.

LADIES' AID MEETS

The Ensign Ladies' Aid met in the U.F.A. Hall on Thursday, November 1st, with nine members and one visitor being present. Business was confined strictly to last minute details on the Tea and Bazaar which is to be held on Wednesday, November 14th, from 3.00 to 6.00 p.m. Lunch will be 25c a plate, and everyone is welcomed. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Ferguson.

A wedding of interest to friends in the Alston district took place recently in St. John's Wood Presbyterian church in London, England. On October 13th, Law Gwyneth May Williams was married to Mr. G. L. Poersch of Winnipeg.

Rev. Murray Smith performed the ceremony. F/L Douglas Barr, D.F.C., of Saskatchewan was best man. Law Emily Winarski of Edmonton, was matron of honor. The bride wore a navy suit and hat with white accessories. After the ceremony a reception was held in the Canadian Y.W.C.A. for sixteen guests. The young couple spent a short honeymoon at a seaside town in Devonshire. Gwyneth expects to be repatriated before Christmas—and when Gunner Poersch returns to Canada, they will make their home in Winnipeg.

An accident which might have easily been serious occurred in the home of W. Isaacson on October 28th. A .22 calibre shell was accidentally dropped on the stove, exploded and the bullet entered Arlene Isaacson's thigh. Arlene is now back at school.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Zahnd returned home on Tuesday after a month's holiday at Sioux City, Iowa, where they were visiting Mr. Zahnd's relatives.

Mrs. W. F. Bozarth has visiting with her sister, Mrs. Willis and her two children Gail and Garry of Calgary.

A number of Alston folk attended the Parkland Harvest Home Supper. They report a very good supper and program.

The day that season for deer hunting opened, Otto Hagg and W. Brinton, C. Hollister and Jack Middleton, J. M. Williams and Evan Williams, drove into the foothills west of Parkland. Hunting was good but game was scarce.

Miss Audrey Syme, assisted by the parents, gave a Hallowe'en party for the children in the Alston public school. Games were played followed by a sumptuous lunch of sandwiches, cake, jelly and whipped cream and lemonade. Children of pre-school age were invited. Although the crowd was not huge, a good time was had by all in the Alston hall on November 2nd. Plan now to attend the dance on Nov. 16th.

There will be another show at Alston presented by the National Film Board on Friday, Nov. 9th. After the pictures there will be a social evening and dance, music being supplied by the Film Board equipment. Ladies kindly bring lunch.

CHARLES CLARK Owner-Publisher
J. LUNDY FINDLAY Editor

FOR the first time in six years comes the announcement that there are more workers nationally than there are jobs. A temporary period of unemployment was not unforeseen, particularly in large centres mobilized for war industries and not yet converted to peace production. To some extent this may be taken care of by unemployment insurance. Public patience should withhold judgment at least for a few months. But if unemployment continues in a large way after that time, there is likely to be a reckoning. So far as small towns are concerned there is little basic change in developing new avenues of employment during war years. Most towns are in about the same position that they were in before the war, which means that the majority of their young people, amongst veterans and oncoming youth will look elsewhere for employment. Only a proportion of our homecoming service men can be absorbed by existing businesses, at least to a degree that offers a promising future. There may be seasonal jobs, some public works, a few trade openings, but not a great deal that is permanent and assured. This is the aspect which links us with the state of employment nationally. If the young people whom we are welcoming back to the district cannot all be absorbed locally, there should be some established contact with possible lines of employment in other parts of the province or in other parts of Canada. We should if possible retain our native westerners in the west. A roused civilian conscience realizes that it is civilian duty to augment military efforts in placement, by helping returned boys in finding suitable occupation.

If active effort is not made by all there is danger of lapsing into the spiritual and physical stagnation of depression years.

One of the unforgettable memories of the early months of the war was the transformation in the appearance of young men. It was more noticeable in the cities. Boys who formerly loafed along the streets, dull-eyed, unexpectant, unemployed, of no consequence to society, were changed in their whole personality by the war call for their services. It was not the uniform so much as the entirely different look on their faces—the look of alertness, awareness, vitality, a purposeful look of going somewhere, having a job to do. In a way it was heart-breaking to think that war was required to bring to these boys that feeling and bearing of keenness and self-respect which is the normal right of all young people in time of peace no less than in time of war.

Most of our boys have returned home to us, cheery, friendly, in good physical shape and trained in alertness. It will be infinitely tragic if they meet rebuffs in seeking employment that will wipe the cheeriness from their eyes, the erectness from their shoulders. Society failed them in the thirties. It must not fail them again. But in all fairness the young serviceman must be a realist. He must face the fact that unless he is fully trained in certain civilian occupations, he must take the going wage commensurate with his worth. Many a young officer who has been drawing big money in armed services, will have a hard time adjusting himself to the lower value placed on his services in a peace-time world.

During the war we had a surfeit of war correspondents; all proclaiming heroism and achievement on a score of fronts. What a pity there is no similar corps of peace correspondents and dramatists to glorify the tasks of peace to give the deserved nobility and color to the hard jobs, the humble jobs, the isolated jobs, which in the aggregate build up a nation. They, too, demonstrate qualities of endurance and fortitude, often sheer heroism. Some of our soldiers, formerly marching in the white light of glory, will now have to take these obscure jobs. They should at least be rewarded by the recognition that what they are doing is worthwhile, and of permanent value in the great post-war job of rebuilding. Keep the bands playing in peace time!

A World Still In Distress

The love of peace seems to have great difficulty in spreading protective wings over the tempestuous world. Here are samples of news from the headlines of week-end papers. The only variation from day to day is in shifts of scenes of main trouble centres. On the domestic front RCMP and provincial police of Ontario have massed at Windsor, Ontario with police and pickets clashing in the Ford Motors strike. Hope is held out that the threatened strike of 12,000 men in meat packing industries may be averted. Experts predict a cold winter. Lack of hospital space is disgraceful. Great wave of crimes of violence. Unemployment rising, with more workers than there are jobs. More missionaries are needed for lands abroad.

In Britain the million dollar dock workers' strike nears end after six weeks of aidmen. Gangster murders in London, described as "British Lord Gort resigns as commissioner of stormy Palestine. Government extends public ownership to civilian airlines, will control rentals and scrutinize private munition plants.

On the world front anti Zionist riots continue in Palestine, Cairo and Alexandria, with Jews defiant against prevailing terrorism and serious loss of life. Turks are afraid of what may develop with the end of the non-aggression treaty with Russia. Fighting in Java has temporarily subsided after native troops had attacked British forces. Chinese Communists have spurned Chinese central government proposals to avoid a full scale civil war. Soviet forces promise to start evacuating Manchuria.

Nickel, of which over 50% of the world's supply is produced in Canada, is taken from the ground by both open pit and mining methods. The chief ore of nickel is called pentlandite.

MILO

But Will Improve Skating Rink. Curious Accidents in District. Not Enough Available Land For Homecoming Soldiers

Plans for building a curling rink at Milo have been postponed indefinitely. The committee in charge feel that with the present shortage of materials for building and the damage that the district suffered from hail, that the present time is not opportune for the venture. It is planned to do something instead toward a new or improved rink for the children.

Accidents

Ted Tester reports a most unusual accident. He was hauling wheat and had just turned a corner when a wheel passed him on the right hand side of the road. He stopped and jumped out and was nearly struck by the left wheel which had decided to join its pal.

Speaking of accidents the Well-mans are in the market for a supply of liniment. They were bringing some horses home from across the lease and the battery of the car went dead. They were miles from anywhere and the only solution was to ride. They eventually arrived half froze and stiff in every joint. By the way, anyone going out there to make a sale of liniment might take some for the horse.

Who Gets the Land?

All is not gold that glitters. This is especially true of the present Canadian Wheat Board policy. Among those who look forward to the development of Western Canada there is little rejoicing over the fact that the Canadian government has guaranteed a floor of One Dollar for the next five years on the price of a bushel of wheat, to be paid to the producer. Quite a lot of our boys are returning from overseas and fully intended to take up farming in their old neighborhood as near as possible to dad. This is not a policy based on sentiment alone. If a returning soldier can work his dad and use his dad's machinery in return for the assistance that he can render, he will be in a better position to become independent than he can under any rehabilitation system devised by the government. All during the war, any available land has been immediately snatched up, either by those who already had sufficiently large holdings or by those who were looking for profitable speculation. This tendency has been amplified by the assurance of a minimum price of one dollar per bushel. The big farmer has the cash to lay on the line and the history of time-payment plans in Alberta has not been kindly. All these things combined add up to just one thing, the boys are back and there is no land available for them. Had the government gone one step further and instead of a quota system based on acreage had guaranteed this minimum price on five thousand bushels only to each producer, things would be different. The larger the holdings, the fewer the farmers. The fewer the farmer, the longer it will be e'er we enjoy such things as power, gravel roads, good schools and all the other benefits that accrue from a thickly settled district. The present wheat policy will help to stabilize or boost the wheat-growers for the next five years but it means five years of retardation as far as the farming district is concerned. Even in this district a good living can be made from a section of land. At the present time nearly fifty per cent of the homes and homesteads of a decade ago are abandoned. This is not development.

Our congratulations go this week to Harold Edward "Butch" Thomander upon his recent marriage to Miss Margaret Loughheed, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Loughheed of Creston, B.C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Forbes of Trinity United Church.

Our congratulations also to Peter Planadin and his bride, the former Mary Radik who were married October 25th at the Central United Church by Rev. Andrew Lawson. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Empress Hotel attended by the many friends of the young couple.

Equitable Treatment

The farmer patrons of Alberta Pool Elevators are treated with a degree of fairness and equity that is obtainable only under the co-operative system.

It happens some times that competitive grain handling organizations give preferred treatment to a very few farmers and at the expense of all the rest of the farmers as a group.

A little thought on what the Wheat Pools have done for the farming community should convince all farmers that it is to their advantage to patronize, wherever possible.

Urge Abolition Lumber Controls

(From Vancouver Spn)
British Columbia produces more than half of the Dominion's annual lumber cut, so government regulations affecting the industry are of highest importance in provincial economy.

There was no complaint during wartime against necessary controls but now the war is over it is apparent that they are working badly.

At Ottawa there are four government departments competing for shares of the short lumber supplies. There is the Veterans' Housing Program under Hon. Ian MacKenzie; Wartime Housing, under Mr. Howe; the National Housing Administration in Mr. Healey's own department, and the Department of External Affairs, represented by the minister of trade and commerce, dealing with overseas commitments and sales to the United States.

Each has big plans and commitments, each has wide powers which often clash. The result is there is no centralized leadership and nobody ever finishes anything.

In Vancouver, the timber controller still wields wartime controls. His object is to force the industry to sell 35 percent of its output in Canada at prices $10, $15 and even $20 per thousand feet below prices available in the United States and United Kingdom. During the last few years patriotism compelled the manufacturer to obey orders implicitly, but today that compulsion fails of 100 percent obedience when a producer can double his profit in markets other than the domestic. Once incidents of evasion creep in, the situation becomes hopelessly cockeyed—and this is the condition today.

The British Columbia shippers, getting "orders" from the controller, do the least possible. The low-price order is left on the files while the manufacturer or dealer does his best for a friendly contractor. Instead of making a realistic survey of the situation, the government departments are trying to fill a five-quart bottle with one quart of milk.

The solution is to impose export and domestic quotas, with a competent official to control exports, but to allow the experienced men in the industry to operate on an open domestic market. The government should get out of the domestic business of buying, selling, allocating and distributing. Incentive has been destroyed, and that is a barrier to real production. In the industry itself, the mill operators are better able to select and manufacture the items best suited to their supplies and mechanical equipment. No controller can possibly be an efficient judge of these factors, which require the best experience in the business.

Another illustration—up to a year ago, the industry itself produced fir doors to supply normal trade demands. Then the government stepped in to say which mills should make doors and where they should sell them. The result has been a complete breakdown in normal door distribution and the of-

HERE AND THERE

The duty of man is plain and simple, and consists but of two points: His duty of God, which every man must feel; and his duty to his neighbor, to do as he would be done by.—Thomas Paine.

Under the wheat board plan wheat growers in Alberta who would ordinarily find it cheaper to ship to Vancouver are paid on the Vancouver basis, even though their grain goes to Ft. William. The Wheat Board absorbs the extra cost, which totalled almost two million between August '41 and Sept. '43.

Official plan even failed to meet the needs of the government's own construction jobs. The situation developed an extensive black market, which in turn led to a breakdown of sound grading and penalized the honest mill, which was trying to match grade for grade and price for price.

What the trade wants is, once more to have the privilege of working out sound and fair practices, as all sensible business men realize they must sell goods that will hold the customers' goodwill. Government policies have led to far too much "back door" selling.

1885 SIXTY YEARS OF PROGRESS 1945

A Dream Come True

When, on November 7, 1885, the last spike was driven linking the rails of the Canadian Pacific Railway, developments only dreamed of that day were to follow.

Soon ships flying the red and white Canadian Pacific house flag were plying the Pacific ... then the Atlantic. There followed a chain of hotels ... resorts and lodges ... coastal and inland steamships ... express and telegraph services—the whole forming an all-Canadian system stretching more than half way round the world.

In 1939, this vast system was dedicated to the winning of the war. Since then the Company's rail lines alone have handled more than 128 billion ton miles of freight—and 11 billion passenger miles. All ocean steamships have been on active service—many have gone down fighting.

Now the Canadian Pacific faces the future. Plans have been completed for the construction of new, improved locomotives and coaches ... sleeping cars ... parlour cars ... diners; for the renovation of stations and hotels; and for the building of a new fleet of ocean vessels.

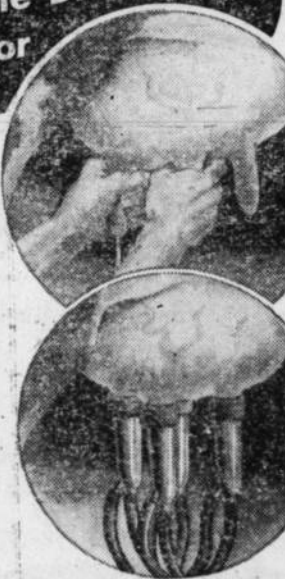

In a world at peace the Canadian Pacific will do its part in providing modern, efficient transportation by land and sea.

TARIFFS - The Farmer's Enemy

Tariffs are enemies of the farmer just as are weeds, insects and plant diseases. Tariffs curtail imports of goods into Canada, hence curtail exports going out of Canada. Farmers and all of us should demand a sharp lowering of Canadian tariffs.
